AUTOTRADER MANCHESTER

The Brief

Autotrader made the decision in order for their staff to return back to the office after the pandemic to refurbishment two of their existing floors totalling 40,000 sq. ft and to also take an additional 10,000 sq. ft in the building whilst it was vacant with staff working from home.

The newly refurbished office would provide an new post Covid workplace allowing greater space individual work spaces together with a whole variety of shared spaces to allow for the increasing number of virtual meetings taking place.

The scope included removing and storing some 600 bench workstations, stripping out of the existing fixtures and fittings back to CAT A. New open plan flexible meeting spaces were created to allow varying numbers of staff to attend meetings, the installation of individual quiet focus rooms together with a large variety of shared work settings.

The work was staggered to allow both floors to be refurbished at the same time pending staff returning to the offices in June earlier this year.
